Declaration

I would like to swing on a star and perhaps, if accepted, carry moonbeams home in a jar. Either way I would be better off than I are and I wouldn't rather be a mule. Thanks. The Welsh Space Agency is in no way responsible for my sudden, violent and dramatic death plunging into the frozen surface of another planet, that is, in the laughably small event I don't blow up on the launch pad in the first place. It wasn't us guv'nor.

Signed _____

Please consider me for the next futile attempt at space travel. I enclose my entire personal wealth.

I hereby confirm that I have only the faintest grasp on reality, and am fully aware that this will probably all end in tears
